DEEPFAKE SIMULATION

Deepfake Video Maker

A short, convincing video of a familiar leader, made from your own recording, to show employees what a deepfake looks like before they meet one.

Record or upload a short video of someone saying your message, add a photo of the person it should appear to be and a sample of their voice, and the Deepfake Video Maker returns an MP4 in that person's face and voice, ready for an awareness session or a board briefing.

02 HOW IT WORKS

From your recording to their face and voice

1 Record the message

Upload a video or record it in the browser. The words in the finished video are the words spoken in this recording.

2 Add the face and voice

Upload a photo of the person, and use an uploaded voice sample or one of your workspace's cloned voices.

3 Choose the mode

Standard for clips up to 15 seconds; High Quality or Advanced for up to 60. Advanced recreates hair and features, and can keep the original clothing or match the photo.

4 Download and show

An email tells you when the video is ready. Download the MP4, with a comparison version side by side or picture in picture to show what changed.

WHEN TO USE IT

The fake is the lesson

Board briefings

Open a risk discussion with the chair or chief executive saying something they never said.

Awareness sessions

Play the fake, ask the room to spot it, then play the side-by-side comparison.

New joiner induction

A thirty-second clip of a leader the new joiner has not yet met in person.

Client workshops

Consultancies and MSSPs open a client session with a fake of the client's own leadership, made with their agreement.

04

SAFEGUARDS

Made with permission, kept private

Authorisation every time

Every generation first shows an authorisation notice that must be accepted before the video is made.

Viewers are told

Usage guidelines on each video, starting with making sure every viewer knows it is AI-generated.

Private by default

Videos are stored privately and served through signed links, and deleting a video removes its files.

Watermarked until paid

Videos made before a workspace pays carry a watermark.
